

Player Code of Conduct

General Statement

The intention of the player code of conduct is to provide a guideline for player behaviour while they are a member of the Edmonton Touch Football Association. This code is designed to guide player actions both on the field and off. It is the responsibility of each team's representatives to review this code with their players prior to their membership in the ETFA. A player's failure to comply with this code and the subsequent consequence, will not be excused by the defense of ignorance. A player's violation of the code of conduct in either a direct or implied manner may lead to sanctions, up to and including life time expulsion from the Edmonton Touch Football Association
